

Corgibits

Contact

Michael Conant - Publisher/President

Incognito Publishing Press

Phone: 888.859.0792 Cell - 646.300.1464

Email: mconant@incognitobooks.com

Print copies of published books are available upon request.

All rights controlled by Incognito Publishing Press, LLC.

Theodore and the Enchanted Bookstore

Be prepared to fall in love with "the little Corgi who could!" Imagine animating the adventures of Theodore, Sam, and all the characters from some of literature's most famous children's novels. That's what is offered when you take on this project and bring millions of fans a new take on the classic tales. Theodore (Theo) is an adorable character who overcomes his handicap to be accepted and loved by all. He uses his wits to help get out of some pretty tricky situations and makes many friends along the way. Adorable, heroic, steadfast, and vulnerable, Theo will take kids (and adults too) on fun adventures the entire family will love.

About the Series

Poor, poor Theodore. He was born a painfully awkward, near-sighted little Corgi, and things only seemed to worsen as time progressed. Despite a briefly joyous stint with his adoptive Mum, Theodore quickly found his little world crumbling with the addition of a human baby who he kept tripping, running into, and generally aggravating. It wasn't long before Theodore found himself at the end of a short leash on a long walk down the intake line at the local dog shelter. Thoroughly disenchanted with the world, Theodore had all but given up hope of ever being anything but a bumbling, unloved, miserable little dog. Then, in walked Sam.

The kindly proprietor of a local Bookstore, Sam took the deflated little dog under his wing and into his heart. It wasn't long until the magic of Sam's love and the warm respite of his wondrous Bookstore had restored Theodore's joy and returned the light to his eyes. Or was it light at all? There seemed to be something more to this Bookstore, and to the Spectacular Spectacles that Sam procured to help with Theodore's strained eyesight. Things were coming alive—the Bookstore, the stories. Suddenly Theodore could see everything so clearly.

He could see magic around every corner, and in every page. He was no longer an awkward little sausage with legs. He was an adventurer. He was the author of his own story, and destined to rewrite all of the stories that welcomed him into their pages—inside the Enchanted Bookstore.

The Main Characters

Theodore: (Theo for short) – Described at first as a “bumbling breadbox with fur”, Theo is the central hero of the stories. A Welsh Corgi, small of stature but big of heart, he is both vulnerable and fearless and a smart little dog. He makes friends easily and doesn't panic when he is thrust into new circumstances even when they are threatening. He wears magical glasses and, he can talk! Everyone loves Theo except for the mean characters he thwarts.

Sam: The kind bookstore owner who saves Theo from the dog pound. Sam is gentle, thoughtful and a bit disheveled and disorganized. He has no idea that his bookstore is magical until Theo arrives. He loves kids and dogs and his little bookstore. He gets a little nervous being sucked into books but he, like Theo, uses his wits and knowledge of the books to help get them out of sticky situations. He is tall and lanky and wears glasses like Theo (but not magical ones) and is about 40.

Abbott: A short, portly little man who dresses oddly, with a bowler hat and topcoat, and first appears only to Theo to deliver glasses that turn out to be magical. He is the caretaker of the magic in the bookstore and lives in the closet-sort of. We learn more about him in book three and his connection to all the magic. He appears to be about 50 but could be a thousand years old.

Robin Hound: A slow talking, slow thinking and rather slow moving hound dog who likes to think of himself as something more than he is- including being the best friend of Robin Hood. He is a bit cowardly and inept but well meaning if a little bit self-serving. His ears are as big as his body and his nose is as true as any hound. At times, he finds his courage and helps Theo and Sam escape from some harrowing situations. In his own way, he is a lovable character.

Nan: A little girl, about 11, who first suggests Theo needs glasses when she observes him crashing into everything in the bookstore. A wearer of some of the biggest glasses ever—at least on her small, thin face—she immediately surmises that maybe Theodore is just far-sighted and needs glasses for reading, or rather for seeing things before he crashes into them. It is Nan who suggests Theo join the bookstore's reading class and convinces Sam to order Theo's glasses.

Many, Many other characters from the classics: Tinker Bell, Robin Hood, Peter Pan, Captain Hook, the Velvet Rabbit and every character from any book Theo will jump into in the future!

Characters in the Magical Bookstore: Dragons, Unicorns, fairies, monkeys, and magical creatures of every sort abound!

Tale of the Spectacular Spectacles

Living life as a bumbling breadbox with fur, was hardship enough for Theodore the Corgi, but when the young dog finds himself cold and alone in a frightening animal shelter, it's clear that his struggles have only just begun.

Labeled "unadoptable," by shelter staff, Theodore mires in the gloom until a kind-eyed stranger with a pocket full of hand-crafted jerky and a quirky smile, rescues him with the intent of making Theodore the newest addition to his curious Bookstore. Though overwhelmed at first, Theodore soon finds both his new friend and the odd bookstore are welcoming hosts, despite the Corgi's run of clumsy mishaps. And while Theodore's formerly dull and lonely life fades to memory, a new, adventurous one blooms before him—for hidden amongst the dusty stacks of books and things at the Enchanted Bookstore, waits a peculiar little man with a set of the most magical, Spectacular Spectacles imaginable.

Poor little Theodore is sent to the Pound

His magical new home – Theo and Sam get whisked into The Adventures of Robin Hood.

The Adventures of Robin Hood Book 2

Magically transported into the pages of Robin Hood by way of Theodore's Spectacular Spectacles, Sam and his Corgi companion Theo, find themselves navigating dastardly princes, a curious passel of Merry Men, and one goofy, galumphing hound dog named Robin Hound.

But will Robin Hound prove friend or foe? Will he be able to help Theo and Sam retrieve their magical copy of Robin Hood so that they can safely return to the Enchanted Bookstore, or will his bumbling lead them astray and trap them in the wilds of Sherwood Forest forever?

*We're just a couple of weary travelers
Mr. Hood*

Nice going Sam-Now we'll never get back to the bookstore!

The Mysterious Abbott and the Velveeta Rabbit Book 3

Theodore and Sam are whisked back through The Adventures of Robin Hood book and into the bookstore. But, they aren't alone. Their goofy, galloping sidekick hound dog, Robin Hound, has been sucked into the bookstore with them - and he can talk!

Disoriented and a bit scared, Robin will sniff out a strange intruder hiding in the broom closet of the store. Well, actually, hidden behind a secret door leading to a secret room where this stranger lives. And who is this odd man from the closet? It's the little fella who gave Theodore his magic glasses - the Abbott.

Soon, our adventurers will learn the secret of the glasses and many other magical items in the bookshop and be introduced to fantastic creatures who live, frozen, in the bookstore with them. Who is this Abbot and why has he chosen Sam and the bookstore to hide his magic?

The Abbott appears to Sam, Theo, and Hound!

All of the magical creatures in the bookstore come alive!

Fairy Flights and Neverland Nights Book 4

The adventures of the highly acclaimed "Theodore and the Enchanted Bookstore" series continue!

This time around, Theodore's off on an adventure of his own! It will be a tough one. He'll doubt he can do it. But there's a magical treasure to find for the bookstore. One hidden somewhere in Neverland. Without it, and other magical objects hiding in other stories, the future of The Enchanted Bookstore, and the magical creatures housed within its walls, is a grim one. An unthinkable one. A future Theodore must prevent!

"Taking over writing the Theodore and the Enchanted Bookstore series from the wonderfully talented K. Kibbee, has been a surreal experience. As Theodore's illustrator, I've been so enthralled in his adventures from day one. I've always wondered where they'd take him: which books he would jump into and what he'd find on the other side of the pages." Julianne Winter

If hooks finds me, I'm cooked!

Umm Tink, I don't think Corgis were meant to fly!

About the Authors

Author, K. (Kistine) Kibbee

K. (Kristine) Kibbee is a Pacific Northwestern writer with rain on her Duck boots and stars in her eyes. A storyteller from the womb, Kristine's inescapable passion for creative writing led her to the doors of Washington State University, where she studied in the Professional Writing program. Kristine, followed her scholarly pursuit of the written word by publishing works in The Vancougar, The Salal Review Literary Review, Just Frenchies magazine, and S/Tick Literary Review. She is presently a regular columnist for Terrier Group magazine. Kristine's novella, The Mischievous Misadventures of Dewey the Daring, was her first and only self-published release, and is still currently available online. Since then, she's had several mainstream books published, including the YA Forests of the Fae trilogy, three chapter books in the Theodore and the Enchanted Bookstore series, and the re-tooled and released, Whole in the Clouds.

Kristine regularly engages on a variety of social media platforms and can be followed:

On Twitter @K_Kibbee

On Facebook @facebook.com/KKibbeewrites

J.H. Winter loves to create. She writes for children and teens. She draws. She crochets amigurumi. She even hops behind the camera and teaches how to crochet on YouTube!

When she isn't holding a pen or crochet hook, she hosts crochet-alongs and shares what she's working on creatively, over on her blog (<http://blog.jhwinter.com>) and YouTube channel (<http://www.youtube.com/inkstitches>), Ink & Stitches.

J.H. Winter's published works include the illustration of the Theodore and the Enchanted Bookstore series, published by Incorgnito Publishing Press. Starting with book four, Fairy Flights and Neverland Nights (Aug. 2020), she has filled the shoes of both author and illustrator of the series. Now, she not only gets to continue drawing that curious corgi, Theodore, she also gets to decide which stories he'll jump into next!

Illustrator/Author, J. H. Winter

She wrote the illustrated chapter book, Tales of Whimsy: Wishweaver (set for a Sept. 2020 release), originally as a picture book, but it had much too much magic to contain in a mere 32 pages. So, Whimsy got her way—as she often does—and got to journey into a much bigger adventure. A series of adventures to be exact. Her wisp friend and co-adventurer, Flit, approved of this decision.

As life would have it, J.H. Winter shares her writerly and creative life with her two precocious kids, her equally-imaginative husband, and their frisky feline, Merlin. Verdict is still out as to whether he is in fact a wizard.

Find out more on social media @jhwinterauthor, or visit her website at www.jhwinter.com.

